Blaine to bring back the supremacy of the United States on the ocean, and as to the carrying on of trade he was as anxious as Mr. Blaine to open the ports of South America to American products. He sincerely desired an extension of commerce, and that the American flag might again be seen in every port and on every sea. But the question was one as to the means to bring about that end. The senator from Maine (Mr. Frye) wanted subsidies. He (Mr. Vest) was opposed to them in toto. He had seen in a New York newspaper, last week, a statement ascribed to Mr. Blaine that he would give one year of his life for two hours on the floor of the American senate on this question. He had not been surprised, in view of that statement, at finding that Mr. Blaine had injected into this discussion an argument in the president's message, read in the venate this morning, urging postal subsidies.

Mr. Vest went on to speak of the la'se Panama conference, and he sent to the clerk's desk, and had read a clipping from the New York Herald, of Breeze Arrest. conference, and he sent to the clerk's desk, and had read a clipping from the New York Herald, of Buenos Ayres correspondents, to show what a prominent and intelligent citizen of Buenos Ayres, Senor Piera, who accompanied the Argentine delegates to Washington, thought of the conference, of Mr. Blaine, Mr. Curtis and the United States delegates.

As soon as the clerk had finished the reading of this very caustic criticism, Mr. Hawley asked Mr. Vest whether he knew who wrote that, and whether it was quite fair and decorous to have

Mr. Vest—The article was published in a New York paper, extracted from a paper in Buenos Ayres, and has gone broadcast over the country.

Mr. Hawley—The senator from Missouri will not endorse what that blackguard said.

Mr. Vest—I have not endorsed it, but if the senator will control himself a moment, I will state my object in quoting it here. I have not endorsed it. There is nothing in the communication that affects the respectability, moral character of integrity of any of the persons mentioned in it. It is ordinary criticism of a public assembly; and I had it read to show the impression made on a prominent man who attended that conference, in vespect to the personnel of that conference and its objects. It was in order to show that no wining and dining, no public exhibition, nothing but self interest would affect our commercial relations with the people of South America. We have assumed to a large extent, that those people could be caloled into commercial relations with us. I has been assumed by this administration, and by others, that they could be knought here and carried through the country in a sort of spectacular exhibition, at the public expense, and that we could by such means seeder their trade. I have had that article read as a cond-munication published all over this country and in South America to show that the men who came here from South America are among the keenest, shrewdest and most far seeing merchants of the world. They are men who control the coffee trade. They are enlarging their cattle trade, so that they will soon become rivals, in the dressed meat trade, with the most enterprising citizens of the United States. I wanted to show that they understood their interests, we are simply fooling ourselves and throwing away the money of the public. Mr. Vest went on to discuss the merits of ington, says this afternoon, in speaking of Reed and Lodge:

They do not know, even approximately, the character, the courage, the devotion and resources of the people whom they propose to override, whose rights they fatuously imagine they can take for playthings. Those people are stronger now than they were fifteen years ago, when Grant, with all his tenacity of purpose, and his reserves of force and material, could not manage them. They are wiser as well as stronger, and they have, besides, the tremendous prestige of occupation. The gleam of the bayonet is in every section and paragraph of the force bill, "but the bayonet itself will have to gleam on every square foot of ground beyond the Potomac before that bill can be made to return to the conspirators who concected it one fraction of the ignoble and ONLY A PLEASANT CHAT.

> The Conferees on the Silver Bill Have Done Nothing Yet. WASHINGTON, July 3.—Another unavailing conference over the silver bill was held this morning, lasting one hour and a half. One of the members says the time was spent, as it was yesterday, in a general discussion of the financial situation, and that no proposition was presented and pressed with any particular force. An adjournment was with any particular force. An adjournment was taken at noon until Saturday morning. It is said previous to that time, that republican members of the conference will hold a meeting, with the view to agreeing upon some basis of action. One of the questions upon which the conferees are divided is said to be whether only the certificates to be issued in accordance with the bill shall be made legal tender, or all certificates outstanding previous to the approval of the bill as well. Mr. Walker, one of the house conferees, is credited with having suggested that the bill should? require customs duties to be paid in good alone, but that was ruled out, on the ground that its consideration would open up discussion upon the matter, not properly included within the scope of the bills before the conference.

CHICAGO, July 3.—The world's fair committee finished its labors this morning. Its business was chiefly of a routine character. The Journal says that a conflict of authority as to the appointment of a director general of the fair has risen between the national general of the fair has risen between the national commission and the local board of directors. The latter claims the right, under the articles of incorporation issued by the state of Illinois, while the former claims the authority under the act of congress in relation to the fair. The Journal has interviews with a number of the commissioners on the subject, the general consensus of whose views is to the effect that while the act does not give the authority in express terms, it does so by implication.

Indeed, from an explanation made by an official of that body, the action of the Virginia board in adopting the new lists for the next feur years is not mandatory upon the schools. Each county or city board in the state is left to choose for itself whether the lists of books, some of which have been in use for the past twenty years, shall be continued.

Washington, July 3.—Rev. Sam Jones, who is in the city temporarily, in course of an interview with a Post reporter tonight, said:
"These folks who think they can do anything with the federal election bill are mistaken. A free ballot and fair count in the south means negro domination, and the south won't have it. The election law will be a dead letter, like the fifteenth amendment. It would take $500,000 to enforce it, a regiment in every county. A negro is killed in the south once in a while—killed with lead. Up in Indians they kill white voters with silver. You buy voters up north with money. In the south one gets killed once in a while. It is cheaper, but a hundred are purchased in the north hundred are purchased in the north where one is killed in the south, and the pur-chasing of votes is as dangerous to the republie as the killing of voters.

A BATTLE IN NEW YORK. Strikers Attack the Men Who Filled Their Former Positions.

New York, July 3.—A crowd of about 200 striking cloak makers gathered on Broadway, between Leonard and White streets, this morning at the hour when the hands in Meyer & Jonasson's shops, at 334, and the Mercantile Cloak company's place, at 394 Broadway, were going to work. These firms are two of the largest in the trade and are buttling in the front row of the Employers' association against the strikers' demands. When their employes tried to enter the shops they were surrounded by the strikers, who forbade them, with vehement gesticulations, to enter. Some were frightened away by the crowd and escaped, while those who persisted in the effort to enter the shops were seized and hustled away by force. In a few minutes Broadway for the block was the sense of decay. way, for two blocks, was the scene of a dozen running fights. For a short time the strikers had it all their own way, but soon the assailed men pluckily fought back. As a consequence damaged heads among the strikers were plen-tiful. The working cloak makers, however, generally got the worst of it. Around Meyer & Jonasson's shops the battle raged most hercely. A dozen strikers caught Charles Butler, stock clerk, dragged him backward off the steps and maltreated him. Joseph Lerburger, buyer for the house, was beaten. An old operator, named Quincey, was set upon and so badly beaten that he had to be removed to his home in a cab. William Wisner, another operator, received severe scalp wounds He was taken to Chambers Street hospital for treatment. Neither pistols nor knives used in the melee, the only weapons used beng fists and clubbed umbrellas.

When the police arrived in force they had no difficulty in dispersing the meb. They used their clubs freely. Mr. Moorcroft, of the cloak firm, said he had no idea that violence would be used. He had supplied the places of the strikers, he said, and work was progress-

A STRIKER FATALLY WOUNDED. Abraham Rosenberg and a crowd of about 150 other striking tailors visited the tailoring shop of A. Dillett, of 19 Eldridge street, this forenoon, and began an indiscriminate attack upon Dillett, his wife and workmen in the shop. Dillett defended himself with his re-Snop. Diffect defended affinser with his revolver. He fired into the crowd and shot Rosenberg in the back, inflicting a serious and probably fatal wound. Rosenberg was removed to Governeur hospital, and the coroner has been summoned to take Rosenberg's anti Dillet closed his place against the strikers, ut they broke in and besides beating the inmates, they destroyed the goods upon which they were working, and threw them into the street. Three or four shots were fired by Dillet and it is believed that some others of the strikers, as well as Rosenberg, were injured, but so far they have not been found. Eight or nine of the strikers were arrested. There is considerable excitement on the east side of the

Mr. Smith stated that the cession of Heligoland would be subject to the assent of parliament.

Sir James Fergusson declined to answer questions with reference to British naval officers in Newfoundland interfering with the lobster fisheries, seeing that legal proceedings had been taken against them. He said, however, that the officers had general instructions to prevent British fishermen from interfering in any manner with the French fishermen in the free enjoyment of their rights.

They also had orders to warn British fishermen that lobster traps must be removed, when French fishermen actually desired to fish in waters occupied by traps. After the French left, traps could be reset. These instructions were framed in pursuance of treaty obligations.

HILL'S SPEECH.

A STRONG AND VIGOROUS ATTACK UPON THE INFAMOUS

the Principles of Popular Freedom— The Speech Received.

New York, July 3.—[Special.]—The speech delivered by Governor Hill before the Hendricks club, in Indianapolis, has aroused the politicians here. It is the talk of the hour. e governor's bold arraignment of the Reed-a which controls the present congress is sticularly pleasing to the southerners here, lle his decided stand for tariff reform has him in line with the most advanced wing this party. In referring to the scenes daily spaced in congress, the governor said: "Our country is making a remarkable chapin her history. A strange spectacle is that th which her people have been confronted the seat of government. A party excluded four years from control of the administra-m and legislation now vested with power all branches of government, is riding rough od over the precedents and practices of a atury, exercising powers never intended to conferred upon the majority, violating the ditions and principles of the republic, inng the private rights of individuals, enching upon the prerogatives of states, atening the integrity of the constitution seriously undermining the foundations of our free institutions. An era of partisanship and seriously undermining the foundations of our free institutions. An era of partisanship has been begun such as has characterized no period of our history save that of the war. The interests and welfare of the country are forgotten and neglected in the wild scramble for the spoils of victory, while in the insatiate greed for power, and in the yrannical usurpation of authority no power has ever shown more flagrant disregard of the rights of a minority.

"The record which the party has made in its brief restoration to power is the great political issue before the people. It is the sudden development of Hamiltonianism intensified but undignified by such creditable motives. It involves various phases—tyrannical methods, abuse of privileges, huge schemes of extravagant expenditure, legislative favoritism by the enactment of high tariffs, arbitrary laws and mallcious interference of federal authority, but in all phases it stands for the unwarranted usurpation of power on the part of the general government.

"I beg your indulgence while I remind you of what this brief but eventful record consists, and urge your efforts as patriots and as partians against the dangerous growth of centralization which it threatens. Congressional topresentation! Let us see what this party has done in congress. In the first place, for the period of three months the majority prevented the adoption of any rules for ralization which it threatens. Congressional representation! Let us see what this party has done in congress. In the first place, for the period of three months the majority prevented the adoption of any rules for the guidance of the house of representatives, fearing that by rights usually thus reserved to minorities the majority might be checked in their efforts to increase their representation in their efforts to recognize democratic speaker refused to recognize democratic speaker refused to recognize democratic speaker refused to recognize democratic representatives, and in quick succession democrat after democrat was ousted from his seat and their places given to republicans. Less than a quorum voted and less than a majority was arbitrarily decided sufficient for the consummation of the outrages. There was no pretense of fairness. There was no consideration of the cases upon their merits. There was little or no discussion tolerated. A protest even was scarcely permitted. The republicans needed the seats held by their opponents, and they took them. It was larceny, plain and simple. Democratic representatives who apparently were allowed to be present only by the 'courtesy' of the majority could merely sit silently by and witness the wrongs perpetrated. The speaker refused to recognize any appeals from his decisions. Such proceedings are not only a disgrace to our American congress, but opposed to American instincts. It remains to be seen whether the fair minded and conservative electors of this country will sustain the majority in their reckcountry will sustain the majority in their reck-less course. I do not believe they will. It has been my observation that such political less course. I do not believe they will. It has been my observation that such political crimes only react upon their authors. No political party can long endure whose success is based upon fraud, perjury and usurpation. The day of retribution sooner or later surely comes. Justice travels with a leaden heel, but strikes with an iron hand.

"In the United States senate, two republicans from the new state of Montana, having no honest claim to seats, were admitted to swell the republican majority. This outrage was not perpetrated even under the forms of law, because their alleged credentials were notoriously defective and irregular. It was done because the necessities of the party were supposed to demand it. For the same partisan reason democratic territories were excluded from statehood, while republican territories having less population and fewer claims are being rapidly admitted. The party that deliberately approved the counting out of Samuel J. Tilden and Thomas A. Hendricks, and specially awarded the men who did it, does not seem to scruple at anything.

"There is little defense effered for these acts at Washington. Few apologies are presented. The compirators are comparatively dumb. They do not insult the people by attempting to put forth arguments to excuse or justify their course. The democracy appeals to the enlightened judgment of the people for the correction of this maladministration of public affairs. The disposition of majorities in legislative bodies to refuse fair and impartial consideration to contested election cases is a growing evil.

The power conferred by the constitution upon congress to be the judge of the election returns and qualifications of its members has become a dangerous power, and subject to great abuse. It presents unlimited temptation for the retention of political power, and for the exercise of partisan injustice. The house of commons in England formerly possessed this power, but, owing to the scandals which arose over its abuse, it was withdrawn, and the determination of contested election cases was turned over to judicial, tribunals, where it properly belongs. I suggest the propriety it properly belongs. I suggest the propriety of applying that heroic remedy in this country, which can be secured by constitutional amend-ment. It is realized that the procedure to effect this desirable property is lowered to disoffect this desirable reform is long and tedious, but I venture to hope that it may be initiated. It would leave to the impartial courts of each state the adjudication of what are really judicial matters depending upon legal evidence. It would afford a fair and honorable solution of a vexed subject, and prevent a repetition of the disgraceful scenes now being daily enacted in concress.

the disgraceful scenes now being daily enacted in congress.

"A Fraudulent Census.—The attention of the country is just now attracted to the pending federal census, and everywhere is manifested a lack of confidence in its honesty and accuracy. From its very inception there have been indications that the party in power intended to manipulate it for political purposes. At the outset the apprehensions of the people were aroused by the notorious unfitness of the men to whom the management of the census was intrusted. The chief officers were selected not because of their capacity and peculiar ability for a work of such importance, but apparently by reason of their subserviency to partisan interests and their unscrupulous audacity to carry out tractive, and the objects to be attained were too partisan to require the services of assuredly competent and trustworthy officers and employes, and wherever in this broad land there has been a republican politician too decrept in body, mind and morals to occupy any other position of responsibility, he has been enlisted in this great army of inquisitors whom Superintendent Porter and his assistants have sent prying into our houses, asking impertinent questions, making false records and foraging for facts, figures and fancies which economic cranks are to base theories on, and unscrupulous politicians are to juggle with for the preservation of the republican party. What is the result? A popular distrust of the undertaking, a heaping of insults upon census enumerators, a lack of respect for federal authority, a refusal to give correct answers to the questions and, consequently in incontract and included in consequently in the course of the services of a position of the consequently in the course of the services of the questions and, consequently in the course of the properties of the property of the prop distrust of the undertaking, a heaping of insults upon census enumerators, a lack of respect for federal authority, a refusal to give correct answers to the questions and, consequently, an inaccurate and misleading cemas. But more than this, and not the result of the incompetency of employes, but of a shrewd and deliberate design on the part of party managers, the evidences accumulate as the work progresses, that the statistics collected are to be manipulated for the bold purpose of strengthening the tottering republican platform of high protection and of actually reducing democratic representation in the house of representatives and in the electoral college.

"In order to carry out the first of these purposes the collection or statistics relating to industry and to the manufacture and growth of protected articles has been placed in the hands of men who have for years depended for support upon their professional championship of a high tariff, and who are notoriously interested in the maintenance of war duties, and the party which has won many a political victory by the assistance of monopolistic wealth and intimidation is quite willing the protected industries should have the benefit of clever juggling with industrial data. The simpler plot, however, in comprehension, though even more audacious in execution, is that which has for its purpose the reduction of democratic representation. A complete and honest count means a gain of more democratic than republican votes. An analysis of the popular vote during the last twenty years shows this to be a safe assertion. The democratic party is growing faster than the republican party. Not once in the last eighteen years has a republican president received a majority of the popular vote. Only twice in the last eight congresses has there been a republican majority in the house of representatives. The tendency is our way. We are, without question, the party of the people, and our opponents are not blind to this fact, but so great is their greed for power, and so unlimited t conduct. The proofs are multiplying daily that a conspiracy exists to reduce the enumeration in democratic states, particularly in the south, and to increase it in the republican states. Upon the result of the pending enumeration, described the processing of the pending enumeration. ation depends the next apportionment, and upon this depends, perhaps, the control of the government for many years to come.

CHATTANOGGA, Tenn., July 3.—The first convention of the United Confederate Veterans' association met in Chattanogga today, Governor vention of the United Confederate Veterans' association met in Chattanooga today, Governor John B. Gordon presiding. The city was gayly decorated in honor of the convention, all the public buildings and leading business houses being profusely adorned with the stars and stripes. Out of the tens of thousands of flags that are fluttering to the breeze, not a half dozen flags except the stars and stripes can be seen. All the decorations conducted by the executive committee are in national celors only. Among the inscriptions on the chief street arches are the following:

"No more loyal citizens today than the boys who wore the gray,"

"We wore the gray,

But truly say,

We honor the flag,

"Backward leoking are our thoughts today, but in the glorious future of our reunited country live our hopes."

"The union, distinct as the billows, yet one as the sea."

"The southern confederacy, a sacred memory; the federal union, the invincible palladium of the present."

"The republic; united invincible."

The required moon, the invinciole paramidin of the present."

"The republic; united invincible."

"We meet to celebrate independence day—
A common heritage of those who wore the gray."

"The stars and stripes; a living symbol."

"The constitution, given us by our fathers, has no truer defenders than the sons of the south."

Ex-confederate veterans come in on every train, and thousands are here participating in the meeting. An address of welcome was delivered by Hon. Mr. Wheeler, an ex-confederate sodiler, and was responded to by General John B. Gordon.

The question of organizing the Sons of Confederate Veterans was referred to the committee and probably will be reported favorably. A memorial from the Woman's Jefferson Davis Monument association of New Orleans, asking co-operation, was presented and several hundred dollars were subscribed.

Here is how it all came about—how a pros-pecting party in search of a widely different mark came upon this Georgia gold field, so rich that it almost rivals the richest mines in sunny California's history.

THEY FISHED FOR IRON AND GOT GOLD.

Early in June Mr. John M. Brosius, and several other gentlemen interested with him, paid a visit to north Georgia to investigate some mineral property there.

They little dreamed of the great fortune that their trip, through the merest accident, was to bring them upon.

But they were in luck, and now that every detail for the working of the wonderful deposit is almost completed, they have opened their lips to tell of the countless wealth that is theirs for the mere digging of the ore and washing of the gold laden sands of their Lumpkin county find.

But to the discovery of the gold fields.

After Captain Brosius and his friends had paid their visit to the property to investigate which they went to Lumpkin county, they started in a wagen on the return trip to the started in a wagon on the return trip to the railway station.

A MOUNTAIN GUIDE. Half way to the depot they were held up in the middle of the road by an unknown man—a rough looking farmer, browned by the hot sun rays and begrimed with the dust of

"Cap'n," he said, "if you'll all just get out of that wagon and step over here a minute, I'll tell you somethin that'll pay you better'n that old mine you've been up thar looking

Captain Brosius and his friends not knowing just what to make of the situation, got out of the wagon and followed the countryman a few paces off from the road.

"I don't want your driver to hear what I'm tellin', nor nobody else but yourselves," he continued. TO THE PEOMISED LAND.

Then after a little dickering about the con ditions, the party of prospectors set out through the woods and over the north Georgia mountains, following the lead of the countryman guide, who on the way unfolded the par ticulars of the gold field they were pursuing. The man had known of the place for a long time. But he was very poor—a veritable native of the mountain fastness—and had never been able to make anything of consequence out of it.

After a wearying tramp Captain Brosius's party came to the fabulous ground. It did not need, Captain Brosius says, a close inspection to discover the great richness of the

A bucketful of ore was picked up and carried back to the wagon, and then without do lay to the assay of Professor McCandless.

When his work was finished and the un dreamed of richness of the deposit discovered, not an hour was lost by Cap ain Brosius his friends in vesting themselves with the titles to the place. Forty acres, taking in four distinct veins, made and are now on record.

Vein No. 1, Professor McCandless reports after his assay, will yield $11,303.80 worth of gold to the ton; No. 2 is assayed at $2,786.31 per ton and No. 3 at $45.47 per ton.

"I have been over the property very carefully," said Captain Brosius, "and I am confident that I can easily dig fifty tons of ore that will come up to the highest assay by Pro-fessor McCandless, that is fifty tons that will yield $11,303.80 to the ton. How much of the other two grades there is it is impossible to Captain Brosius showed to a Constitution reporter specimens of the ore from which the assays were made. The rocks were literally bristling with the yellow gold. In a small bristling with the yellow gold. In a small box he had a piece of pure metal as large as a pea that had fallen out of a piece of ore.

"These ores were picked up at random," said he, "and not with any special search for the richest pieces on the field."
Captain Brosius states that a company stocked at $500,000, has already been formed o work the mines.

The fact of the purchase and the intentions of the purchasers of the property has been kept very quiet until every obstacle was removed.

There is doubtless a big fortune in the find for Captain Brosius and his associates.

And it was just like picking it up in the road.

The man who put them on to the place has been employed regularly already by the pur-chasers to take charge of the property and help

In working it.

Just as soon as the machinery can be placed this will begin, says Captain Brosius.

Captain Brosius leaves for Virginia tomorrow in the interest of the Atlanta and Pittsburg railroad, which is to run through this mining property of north Georgia.

He Explains His Position With Regard to the Office.

HE IS IN THE LINE OF SUCCESSION

Who will be president of the State Agricul tural society?

Colonel Northen, as THE CONSTITUTION has announced, will resign that position to assume the higher responsibilities of the governorship, and a new president must be chosen.

Farmers all over the state are interested in this change. The State Agricultural society is in better condition than it has ever before been, and it is at all times an institution in which the farmers take great pride.

In yesterday's issue of THE CONSTITUTION the name of Colonel John O. Waddell, assistant commissioner of agriculture, was mentioned as the most likely man for the place Colonel Waddell's service in the important position of general vice president of the society was mentioned, and his popularity with the members was spoken of.

"I have read the article to which you refer," Baid Colonel Waddell, when asked yesterday If he was a candidate for the position. "Your Macon correspondent, I notice, suggests my name, and the Telegraph, of Macon, also contains an article on the subject. I think the suggestion of my name is due to the fact that I am, and have been, the general vice president of the society, since the creation of the office at the Canton convention, the office of general vice president being next in succes-

"The Telegraph says I am ineligible, for the reason that I am assistant commissioner of agriculture. While this reason could not hold, I will not discuss it, for the Telegraph makes a suggestion which commands my attention.

It suggests the name of a former distinguished president of the society, a name which commands the respect and confidence of all Georgians-the Hon. Thomas Hardeman, of Bibb. By no one is he more honored and respected than by myself. The noble manner of his recent withdrawal from the gubernatorial race, yielding to that other great and good man, the Hon. W. J. Northen, increases our respect for him. I will ask of the society no greater honor than to be promitted to present his name to the agricultural society and ask his unani-

Colonel Waddell went on to discuss the article wherein his name was first mentioned.

The con-tinually expressed apprehensions that it is, may make it so. THE WATERMELON MARKET.

The Season About Over, and the Growers

Boston, Ga., July 3.—[Special.]—The watermelon rush is gradually reaching its end. The Georgia and Carolina melon exchange has proven to be one of the most important moves in the interest of the meion growers that has ever been made through this section. Every meion grower who bound himself to the meion syndicate now wears a face of happiness and contentment. They have received a uniform price, as well as a good price, for their products. The syndicate has filled every promise made the grower, and it is believed that every grower will make a contract with them the coming season. Outside shippers, however, have received fair prices for most of their shipments.

The Shotgun Brought In.

ALBANY, Ga., July 3.—[Special.]—Yesterday, on the Ball place in Lee county, Lottie Stephens and Arch Sheppard, two negro children, twelve years old, quarreled over a watermelon. Arch, driven to the verge of frenzy, rushed to the house for his shotgun, and returning, discharged the entire load in Lottie's face and neck. Dr. W. L. Davis was called. He found the girl seriously, though not fatally, hurt. She claimed that she had eaten none of the fruit, but an emetic revealed that she lad gorged herself with half of Arch's melon. Hence his fury.

CHAS. WOODSON DEAD.

AN OLD ATLANTA BOY DIES IN LON-DON.

Sargical Operation Ends the Life of an Old Atlanta Boy Who Was Loved by All Who Knew Him—His Funeral.

Mr. Charles D. Woodson is dead. He died yesterday morning in London, England, under a surgical operation, and the intelligence of death was a great shock to his many Atlanta friends.

Sincere sorrow followed the announcemen
Mr. Woodson has been in Europe several months seeking a restoration of his health and a few weeks ago went to London to consult some eminent physicians, by whom he was ad vised to submit to a painful and dangerous surgical operation.

Mr. Woodson finally consented to the oper ation and early yesterday morning he gave himself up to the knife. The surgeons were the best in the city, but Mr. Woodson's life went out with the work.

Immediately after his death friends with whom he had met in London sent cablegrams to his family in Atlanta, announcing the sad result. The imformation was a great shock to Mr. Woodson's mother and brothers, as they had grown hopeful from his letters.

As soon as the family could realize the situation cablegrams were sent to London directing the return of the remains to Atlanta. All arrangements were at once perfected for the

Mr. Charles D. Woodson was well known throughout Atlanta, and was once a promi-nent figure in her financial circles.

As a boy, he was always bright and promising, and when yet quite young went into the banking business. He began his career with the old State National bank, and in the first years of his work manifested a great financiering ability.

These were parked at the First street end of the building, along with other wagons. When Clerk Nelson asked for the fee, Skipper refused to pay it, for the reason that no shelter was provided for his wagon. The clerk had the case docketed, and this morning Mr. Skipper, with his attorney, M. G. Bayne, appeared. The facts as stated above were brought out.

The defendant cited the recent amendment to the charter of the city, passed last year, which restricts the license laws and says no license or tax shall be levied on farmers bringing their produce to market unless shelter is provided for them.

The court reserved its decision.

the action as important as any since the days or reconstruction.

Rev. J. M. Rushin was endorsed for congress from this, the second district, to oppose Hon. H. G. Turner, the present member.

Mr. Rushin is a prominent and popular Baptist minister, and it is understood that he is willing to enter politics, though heretofore he has held aloof from public office.

Prof. A. Q. Moedy was endorsed for the senate from the seventh district. Hon. R. G. Mitchell had a strong following, but was defeated. Hon. A. W. Ivey and J. M. Parker were named as the alliance candidates for the lower house. The edict has gone forth that 'lawyer need apply. All the men endorsed are farmers. All of the alliances in this district will send up delegates to a convention in Albany, July 15th, to ratify the action of the county alliances today.

All the Candidates Out.

All the Candidates Out.

Calhoun, Ga., July 3.—[Special.]—The old political pot in Gordon is about to reach the boiling point. The four candidates for representatives are throwing considerable energy in the canvass and are making things lively. One of the candidates to represent this county in the next Georgia legislature is a lawyer, Colonel E. J. Kiker, the other three are farmers, J. A. Dugger, R. H. Nesbitt and J. W. Swain. Mr. Swain is the alliance candidate, having been endorsed by the county alliance, which held its regular quarterly meeting here on yesterday. The vote between these men will, perhaps, be considerably divided, and the result is in some doubt at this time.

The county alliance also endorsed James M. Horton for the senate from this district, who is now opposing Hon. J. C. Fain. Everett was also endorsed for congress as against Hon. J. C. Charments.

George T. Barnes and Thomas E. Watson: that the executive committee appoint delegates to the senatorial convention, with instructions to said delegates to vote for a Jefferson county man.

Politics in Watson's Home.

THOMSON, Ga., July 3.—[Special.]—A mass meet-ing was held at the court house today, pursuant to a call of the executive committee, to decide whether or not primaries should be held for the various offices. The meeting was largely attended, and decided in favor of primaries. Delegates to the congressional convention will be elected on July 11th, for governor and state house officers, and for senator and representative on the 15th and for senator and representative.

There was quite a colloquy of words in regard to holding a primary for nominating a representative, and at one time it became quite stormy, but peace was restored, and the meeting adjourned quietly. The meeting was organized by the election of Mr. P. B. Johnson, chairman, and Mr. Q. A Peace as secretary. Mr. P. B. Johnson by the election of Mr. P. B. Johnson, chairman, and Mr. G. A. Reese as secretary. Mr. P. B. Johnson was also elected district committeeman, Hon. Thomas E. Watson resigning. A new executive committee for the county was also elected. Rev. S. A. PAID THE MONEY.

THE STATE UNIVERSITY GETS VERY NEAR $15,000

Three Funds Paid to Major Cobb Yesterday by State Treasurer Hardema They Will Be Divided.

The university got $14,857.07 yesterday.
Which goes to paying up the expenses of the college last year.

The money was drawn by Major Lamar Cobb, secretary of the board of trustees, and was paid in three checks.

One of these checks was drawn by virtue of a warrant which Major Cobb held from Governor Gordon, ordering that $3,157.07 be paid as semiannual division of the land script fund. Another check was given by the state treasurer by warrant from Governor Gordon for $9,450 from interest on public debt to university for 1890, this being a semiannual pay-

The other check was signed for $2,250 as quarterly payment of the appropriation given by the state to the branch colleges. This check will be divided among the branch polleges by Major Cobb as follows: Dahlonega will get $750, Milledgeville will get $500, and Cuthbert will get $500. This appropriation is the regular quarterly payment given by the state to the branch colleges according to the act passed by the general assembly two years ago.

Major Cobb said it was the last money he will ever draw for the State university, having resigned his position as secretary of the board of trustees and treasurer of the college. His resignation will take effect on September the 1st, and Mr. A. L. Hull will begin his duties as such on that day. duties as such on that day.

Major Cobb has been serving the university in this capacity for many years, and has during that time proved himself a thoroughly efficient He says the financial condition of the uni versity is, as it has always been, very badly in need of the state's liberality.

"The movement now on foot to raise a fund for the college is a most necessary one," said Major Cobb, "and I sincerely trust something good may come of it." THE NORTHEN CAMPAIGN CLUB. The Zenith Has Been Reached and the In terest is On the Wane.

The Northen campaign club held another meeting yesterday.

It is probably the last one that will be called for the purposes for which the club was called together each day since its organizers have lost their former interest.

The campaign is one sided, and all of Mr.
Northen's friends are waiting for something else to turn up before they start their vigorous work again.

There was only a brief meeting yesterday.
Theimeeting was called to order by Mr. Lewis
Thomas, and several speeches were made.
The following resolutions were unanimonsly adopted:

daily at 12 o'clock to look after his interest in the gubernatorial campaign, be it . Resolved, Arst. That his friends will not be expected to meet daily at the club rooms, but that when it becomes desirable to have another meeting of his triends, due notice will be given by the president of this club.

Resolved, further, That the club rooms and headquarters will be kept open all day from now until the nomination of Hon. W. J. Northen, as governor, and that any and all of his friends are invited to call at any time at said rooms and make any suggestion looking to the interest of his campaign.

Arranging for the Primaries.—The different candidates for the legislature met yesterday morning at the office of Chairman Culberson for the purpose of making arrangements for the primaries. The matter of managers for the different election precincts was considered, and from the names submitted Chairman Culberson will make up the list of managers.

A New Bank for Athens.

Athens, Ga., July 3.—[Special.]—Athens, recognizing her need for a new bank, will meet the demand by opening a bank about the first of September, with a capital of $100,000. This new bank is engineered by some of Athens' best citizens, and will supply a long felt want. Forty thousand dollars of the capital stock has already been subscribed. Captain J. J. C. McMahon will be the president, and Mr. Hal Linton the cashler.

Peculiar

Peculiar in combination, proportion and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom.

Peculiar in its medicinal merit, Hood's Sarsapa rilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown.

Filla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown.

Paculiar in strength and economy — Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "100 doses one dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Peculiar in its "good name at home" — there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has ever attained such popularity in so short a time. Do not be induced to take any other preparation. Besure to get

STATE OF GEORGIA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, ATLANTA, Ga., July 3, 1890. ORDERED:

ATLANTA, Ga., July 3, 1890.

ORDERED:

That each insurance company in this state, or doing business therein, shall through its chief officer, or through its chief agent residing in this state, make return to the governor a semi-annual statement, containing a full and exact report of its condition on the 30th of June, 1890; said return must comply with every requirement of the insurance laws of the state of Georgia; must be filed in this office within sixty days from the 1st day of July, 1890; must be published as required by the statute, and when filed in this office a copy of the report as published must be filed with it. Annual statements will not be received as a compliance with this order calling for semi-annual statement. Failure on the part of any company to observe this order will result in the forfeiture of the right to do business in this state until 1st of January, 1891, and in the recall and cancelation of its license by the Insurance Commissioner.

A Kick Over the Loyd Street Sewer-Is It Necessary to Lay Sewers in Summer-Other Local News and Notes.

There is a general pretest among residents on Loyd street, near the junction of Fair and

And the protest is well grounded. Some time ago there was an ordinance passed to open a sewer connection on that por-tion of Loyd street.

Those who are acquainted with the locality are aware of the fact that all that portion of the street is made and was a stagnant rivulet fifteen years ago. The filling in was done with the rubbish and garbage of the city, which is from fifteen to twenty feet deep.

The residents of that part of the city argue that the upturning of the decaying stuff used in filling up the hollow, will breed disease and probably cause an epidemic of typhoid fever in the neighborhood. Some of the residents are moving in the way of getting up a petition to the city council, asking that the work be postponed until after the heat of the summer is over, on account of the possible dangers attending the work during the hot season

A LIVINGSTON CLUB.

It was Firmly Organized in Atlanta Yester-

A Livingston campaign club.

Such was organized in Atlanta yesterday. The meeting was an enthusiastic gatheric of Colonel Livingston's friends, and was held in the office of the Southern Alliance Fa The club was organized fully, and has already started upon the work before it.

The organization was perfected by electing Judge R. F. Dorsey president, and Mr. W. S. De Wolf secretary.

After a warm descussion of the work to be taken up, the meeting decided to begin at once by selecting a suitable place for holding meetings and establishing the permanent headquarters of the club.

A meeting will be held tonight at 25 West Hunter street, which will be the first work of the Livingston club. It is desired that a full attendance be present, and every one of Colonel Livingston friends is earnestly asked to be present, as matters of very great importance will come up for action. The work of appointing committees and electing other officers will be taken up tonight, and other steps will be taken to secure a perfect and substantial organization.

The meeting will, doubtless, be a most enthusiastic one, as the friends of Colonel Livingston who took part in organizing the club yesterday, were aroused with zealous energy.

A Large Number of Georgia Teachers Will

Leave Today. Two large parties of teachers will leave Atlanta

The first party will leave at 7:50 o'clock this morning, and the other will follow at 11 o'clock.

Major W. F. Slaton, superintendent of the public schools of Atlanta, will be in charge of one of the parties. He and his party will go over the Shenandoah Valley route. The other party, in charge of Professor W. M. Slaton, of the Boys' High school, a director for Georgia of the National Educational convention, will go by the Evansville route.

Especially elegant accommodations have been offered to the teachers by both routes, and their offered to the teachers by both routes, and their trip will be one of much pleasure as well as of great profit.

The exact number of teachers who will attend the convention from Georgia is not precisely known, but Major Slaton says the delegation will be a very large one.

RACES AT PIEDMONT PARK.

Some Excellent Amusement for Revellers on the Glorious Fourth.

Races today! Some real fine racing by the best horses in the Atlanta stables. Everybody who loves good horse racing, and who is especially inclined to enjoy the revelry of the glorious Fourth of July should go out to Piedmont park today.

The racing will begin at 3 o'clock sharp, and there will be no pause in the programme until it is ended, the races being "sandwiched" in rapid succession.

The first race will be a free for all trot, and will be entered by Bob Maxwell, James G. and Gray Fred.

The second race will be a pacing race, mile heats, and will be entered by Jimmy Link, Black Warrior and Bay Billy.

The third will be a hurdle race, over four targets.

hurdles.

The fourth a half mile trotting heat, with the owners of the horses to drive.

The fifth race will be between three minute class horses, and will be mile heats.

The sixth will be a mile race in half mile

THE GRADY MONUMENT.

The Monument Association is Organized Conference with Sculptor Doyle.

The members of the Grady monument commit-tee met at The Constitution office yesterday morning, and organized as the Grady Monument association, under the charter recently granted by Mr. Charlie Northen was elected president, Mr.

Clark Howell, Jr., secretary, Mr. J. R. Holliday assistant secretary and Mr. T. A. Hammond treasscuptor Doyle was present at the meeting. Some time was spent in discussing with him the pose of the figure and minor details about the statue. Mr. Doyle's general plan had been adopted some time before, but there were several points upon which he desired the decision of the committee. These were all agreed upon.

"I hope to have the monument completed within a year," said Mr. Doyle, when asked when it could be done

"No, I will sign no More," Donizetu—Mrs. R. H. Richards.
"Valse," Raff—Miss Mamie Barnes.
"Polacca Brill," Bohm—Miss Mary Lizzie Jones.
The solos by Mrs. Richards were greatly enjoyed, as was shown by the applause which followed. Mrs. Richards is one of Atlanta's best musicians, and has one of the strongest, sweet-est voices ever heard in the south. She never sang better than last evening.

The pupils all did well, and reflect great credit on Miss Watson as a teacher.

Special mention shauld be made of Misses Mary Lizzie Jones, Mamie Barnes, Carrie Johnson, An-nie Fitzgibbons and Maggie Burney, who showed careful study in the execution of their pieces. Lillie Maud Lowndes is a prodigy. She is but eight years old, and has a wonderful talent for music. She played the Kirmess perfectly, and the fact that she played it from memory, as she does all her pleces, only made the audience more enthusiastic.

The parlors were beautifully decorated by Mr. Glazier. The house was filled with Miss Watson's friends, and all left with many congratulations which were well deserved, for no musicale this summer has been more enjoyed than this. It was a perfect success in every respect.

Mrs. L. Fleishel and her daughters, Misses Sadie and Nettie, and Mr. Percy L. Nussbaum left Thursday night for New York by Savannah steamer, where they will remain several days, and then sail for Europe.

Mrs. W. A. Hemphill and family have returned

Mr. L. B. Nelson and family left yesterday for Toledo, Ohio. They will return to the city about September 1st.

Major Livingston Mins has just returned from the north, where he has been most delightfully combining business and pleasure. He attended a number of elegant banquets and dinners given by friends in New York and Boston; among them a dinner given at "Parker's" in honor of Mr. Thomas Mack, was most notable for its elegance. The menu was in the form of a booklet tied with lilac menu was in the form of a booklet tied with flace ribbons, the outer covers daintily decorated and the inner containing a picture of Mr. Mack wreathed in pansies opposite the elaborate menu, printed on white satin. In the course of the evening many brilliant dinner course of the evening many brilliant dinner speeches were made by the distinguished guests course of the evening many brilliant dinner speeches were made by the distinguished guests present, "to which," says the New York World, "Mr. Mack responded in a few remarks and gave way to his friend, Major Mims, at whose house Mr. Mack was married. Major Mims's ready and graceful southern oratory enchanted his hearers who called on him to continue his remarks at his first conclusion."

The sudden and unexpected death of Mrs. Samuel Inman has cast a veil of sorrow over the whole of Atlanta's social life. To her many relatives and intimate friends here of course her loss is greatest, but none who knew her are without sincere sorrow for her loss and for the grief that is now so great in the hearts of those nearest to her. Her gentle, noble character, her sweet womanliness and grace will make her forever re-membered by all who knew her. The beauty of her life as a wife and mother casts a halo about her earthly life as fair as the crown that now

Miss Lula Porter will return in August for a nonth's vacation at her home in Atlanta. Miss Porter has steadily risen from the time of her more cause to feel encouraged. She comes home for rest and recreation after a very hard winter's work, and her friends all hope that while she is here she will not be called upon to give her talent for public purposes as she was so willing to do when an amateur.

Last evening Miss Ad McDowell and Mr. A. McLeod were married at the home of the bride's parents in Rosedale, the wedding ceremony being performed by Dr. G. B. Strickler and witne a few friends and relatives. The young couple, both well known and popular in Atlanta, have every good wish for their happiness.

Intelligent People.

Mhen an intelligent People.

When an intelligent person makes up his mind to try Smith's Tonic Syrup, made by Dr. John Bull, of Louisville, Ky., he will not be persuaded by his druggist to take some other remedy. He will insist on his druggist getting the medicine he wants, even though he may have to wait a week for it. When a family lias once used Smith's Tonic Syrup and experienced its quick effect in curing all symptoms of malaria, chills and feyer summer colds, etc. of malaria, chills and fever, summer colds, etc., they never allow themselves to be without it. An intelligent father would as soon be without flour in the house as to be without Smith's Tonic Syrup. The children like it, and its effect is always satisfactory.

A gentleman owning 240 acres of good hammock land in the county of Sumter, in the state of Florida, between the Withlacoochee river and Lake Panasoffkee, with a landing upon the Withlacoochee river, would exchange the same for improved city property situated in Atlanta or any thrifty near-by town. About 75 acres of the 240 acres are set in the finest varieties of oranges and lemons, and about one-third of the 75 acres comes into bearing this year. The section of country situated between the Withlacoochee river and Lake Panasoffkee is admittedly the very finest in the state of Florida for the cultivation of oranges and lemons.

Fine help to care for the grove is already in charge of the property, and arrangements can be made to transfer this help to the party who may purchase.

The gentleman who owns the property compelled, by reason of large business engagements which claim his attention elsewhere, to place this valuable property on the market. This presents a first-class opportunity to any persons threatened with pulmonary disease to fully recuperate their health. THE GLORIOUS FOURTH,

Today Will be Observed as a National Holi-day.

Today is Independence Day.
The glorious Fourth!
Sunday hours will be observed at the postoffice.
The banks will be closed.
The saloons will be closed because of a city ordinance requiring them to close up on all public holidays, as well as on divers other occasions.
In a general way the Fourth will be observed by the merchants and business med but there will be no special effort made to commemorate the day.

The city offices will be closed.
So will the county offices.

There will be a general suspension of business in the offices of the state capitol. The negro military companies will parade, and will enjoy the holiday in a most robust and enthusiastic manner.

thusiastic manner.

There will be no demonstrations made by the white companies of the local military.

Neither will the members of the Confederate Veterans' association join in the observance of the day.

But the rejoicing today will be confined to the negro companies, so far as any military display is concerned.

The nigger and the watermillion will be preva-lent.

Excursion trains will bring crowds of rustic "cullud folks" into the city.

Chief Connolly has issued privileges to at least twenty persons who will dish out "watermillions" and "red lemonade" to the Testive darkies who will come, see and conquor—the "watermillion and the lemonade," but will take good care not to get out of sight of the "eyars" during the festivi-ties.

They will get a bird's eye view of Atlanta—
That is, they will take in that portion of Wall street between the Kimball and the Markham house, and will go home and die happy.
The Fourth of July is the grand hollday for the cornfield niggers, and many a red hearted water-melon will bite the dust.
That is, will be badly bitten before the sun goes down today.

ATLANTA, GA., JULY 4, 1890.

Fighting the Farmers' Alliance. Our ancient and esteemed contemporary, The Savannah Morning News, must either be hard of hearing and understanding in its old age, or else it is wilfully perverse.

For a week past it has been vainly striving to read the alliance out of the democratic party; and although we stated plainly in recent editorial, in which we defended the Farmers' alliance from just such misrepresentation, that the alliance in Georgia, at least, by reason of its faith and numbers, is the democratic party itself, our Savannah contemporary neither can nor will understand us.

Brother Estill says that the alliance can not be called "the democratic party." We told him that the statement that it is "the democratic party itself" could be twisted two ways, and that he had evidently jerked It the wrong way; but if he cannot understand the explanation we made in a former editorial, it would be useless, we think, to attempt to enlighten him further on the

We would not willingly misrepresent our esteemed contemporary, but we must say that it is seeking to whip the alliance into a little corner and keep it there indefinitely. It will not recognize the alliance as being in the democratic party, of the party, for the party, and, as we have already said, by reason of its faith, its strength, its numbers, the very party itself. How can you view it from any other standpoint? In the language of Hon. W. J. Northen,

In his celebrated Gwinnett speech: "If the farmers—the alliancemen—are not democrats, what are they? Will not the farmers go solidly to the polls, when the time arrives, and vote the democratic ticket? Because they compose the order known as the Farmers' alliance, would The Savannah Morning News deprive them of all political privileges and political recognition? Why should it seek to ignore them by thus beating around the bush? Why should it say, in speaking of the alliance: "The Morning News knows what political honesty is, and what democratic principles are"? Is it possible that our contemporary would, by this Intimate that the men who compose the alliance lack political honesty? That their principles are not democratic?

In a recent editorial on this subject we put this plain question to our contemporary: "If Tillman is elected governor of South Carolina, will it not be through the demoeratic party?" But the News has failed to answer. The Charleston World, however, answers for it in the following words: "Unquestionably, this is correct,"

We insist that the Savannah News is old tashioned in its views of men and affairs. and that it is either wilfully ignorant of the sims and purposes of the Farmers' alliance, or naturally so. . Let it read our former editorial on this subject carefully, and be enlightened; and let it do the farmers justice, long; and let us repeat Brother Northen's straight-forward question: "If the farmers -who compose the alliance-are not democrats, what are they?"

We insist on our advice to the News to take a week off at Tybee and ponder this eading question. It might do it good at A Democratic Leader.

The Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, al-Juding to some remarks made by our Wash-Ington correspondent about Speaker Reed, pays a left-handed compliment to Judge Crisp, of Georgia. It says, although without reason, that "the democrats have a neaking admiration for Tom Reed, and wish he was a democrat, or that they had a democrat like him," and then goes on to remark that "Crisp, of Georgia, seems to come nearer being the man than any other democrat in the house. He is bold, eloquent and aggressive, and it is well known that Reed holds him, as a foeman, in greater respect than any other man of the opposition. In the casting about for a leader for that headless party," the Commercial Gazette con-Linues, "Crisp seems to be the favorite."

There is some appreciation in this, and a ecognition of the abilities of Judge Crisp m an unexpected source. The comparion of the Georgian with Reed, however, is not to be relished in all its breadth, for there is nothing in Judge Crisp's character to war rant the intimation that he practices the minister arts of a partisan.

The Federal Election Bill.

The comparatively narrow majority by thich the infamous federal force bill passed the house leads us to hope that the senate will be honest and conservative enough to defeat it. The democratic senators have a reat duty to perform in this matter. It is duty they owe the whole country, without regard to party. They should be unceasing in their efforts to defeat this infamous partiin measure, and thus save the nation from disgrace, humiliation and demoralizaon that will follow the enactment of this

This force bill is utterly without excuse, ept as a partisan measure intended to ce southern congressional districts in conol of the republicans, The republican jority ignored the facts given them by art, of North Carolina, and Coleman, of siana, but it cannot be supposed that senate can so far forget itself, at this te day, as to pander to the prejudices of ch office seekers as Speaker Reed. We do not agree with the St. Louis Ree that the southern states are in a on to submit with advantage to any ong that may be inflicted on them. The thern states are in no position to submit idvantage to the renewal of the strife violence that marked a former attempt of the republican party to give this section over to the rule of the scalawag, the carpetbagger and the careless and ignorant negro The south is in no position to have its wonderful industrial progress interfered with to advantage-in no position to have its business and its investments given over to con-

That the north will protest at the polls against this attempt to destroy the progress and prosperity of the south, we cannot doubt, but we would rather have the protest made against the intentions of the republican party than against the law after it is enacted. Should the senate endorse this force bill, all the protests that may come from the north will be powerless to secure its repeal. It would be rendered inoperative by a democratic house, but it would remain on the statute books ready to the hands of the republicans whenever they came into power.

No: there can be no advantage to the south in the passage of this infamous bill. All that can come out of it is confusion, bitterness, race conflicts and the destructio of our industrial progress. The richest and most promising section in the world could not withstand such an attack on its best in-

Free Coinage as an Issue.

Mr. Manton Marble, who was formerly editor of The New York World, and who flourished about considerably during the Tilden campaign, has recently been writing some entertaining essays on financial questions.

We have never had much confidence in Mr. Marble as a political leader, but the fact that he has changed his views on the silver question shows that he fully understands the drift of things in this country. He now advises the democratic party to make free coinage of silver the issue in 1892.

It is good advice. The issue would be winning one, It would sweep the country. The demand for it, as has been recently shown, is overwhelming, and as the repub lican party has formerly declared against itsince it could not consistently seize on democratic policy-it becomes the duty of the democrats to renew and remodel the declarations in favor of silver money made in their platforms since 1873.

It is an issue that cannot be evaded by the democrats. It must be taken up in earnest in the interest of the people. It has been said that the attitude of Mr. Cleveland toward silver coinage has been changed. If the change has been as great as that which Mr. Marble's mind has undergone, and he will take the trouble to make publication of the fact, he will indeed be the leader of the party. The democratic platform should be:

Opposition to federal interference in elec-

The free coinage of silver-Tariff reform and the reduction of taxa

An honest and economical administration of the affairs of the government in all departments.

The Blacks and the Census. According to the census of 1880, it appeared that the blacks were gaining on the whites at a tremendous rate.

When the report was printed, Judge Tourgee wrote a book in which he predicted that the south would be completely negroized in the course of a few decades. This was the view generally held in the north but well informed southern writers opposed it, and declared that the deductions from the census of 1880 were colored by the very défective statistics of 1870.

It is too early to speak positively about the present census, but from the incomplete returns it appears that the whites have increased more rapidly than the blacks during the past ten years. This is encouraging, nd we believe that when all the facts are collected this inference will be substantiated. It is true that births among the blacks are exceedingly numerous, but their death rate is nearly double that of the whites. Then the blacks gain nothing, and can gain nothing from immigration.

There is nothing depressing when we view the matter from an intelligent standpoint. The heavy death rate of the blacks, and the absolute certainty that in coming years the tide of white immigration will rush southward in a rapidly increasing volume, justifies the belief that this region will in the near future hold an immense white majority, whose relations with the blacks will be peaceful, satisfactory and mutually profitable. This is not an optimistic view The facts will sustain it.

A Foreign View of Reed.

George Alfred Townsend tells an interestng story of an Englishman's visit to congress ome years ago.

The distinguished foreigner sat in the house gallery, and listened to an important debate. The greatest men of the nation made eloquent speeches, bristling with statistics on one side of the question, and then Tom Reed came to the front. He did not stop to argue. He gave no facts or figures. made positive assertions, looked his opponents in the face, shook his finger at them, and laughed at their statements. He showed a thorough contempt for the opposite side, and was bold and aggressive all the way

After the debate was over Mr. Dorsheimer of New York, asked the visitor what he thought of it. The Englishman was very frank. He said that very few of the debaters impressed him. They had too little individuality. But Reed struck him. The man's bulldog obstinacy, his courage and will power excited his admiration. Such a man, the Englishman thought, would dis tinguish himself and live in history. This little incident is suggestive. No doubt Balfour and Bismarck would have taken the Englishman's view. The believers in the one man power-men wedded to the policy of force, feeling a contempt for a lemocratic government, see in this bulldozing politician a man whose methods suit them. But if Macaulay or the thoughtful DeTocqueville could come back they would see in such a triumph of bossism a menae to the republic, and an indication of weakness on the part of the guardians of our free

During the reconstruction era some of the carpetbag governments in the south were manipulated and dominated by bold adventurers, but no one ever dreamed that a man of that stamp would in a similar way control the lower house of congress. Partisanry does not explain this singular business. A few years ago, and even in war times, the republican members would not have been called or driven like a flock of sheep by

Such a man with such methods must meet with a sudden and unexpected downfall. The American spirit will assert itself. There will be a revolt, and Reed and his gang will go down with a crash just when they are preparing for one of their most audac assaults upon constitutional liberty.

Compensation.

Thousands or millions lie gasping in the itiless heat. They suffer and die, but in the economy of nature it is all right. It seems hard to see the innocent and guiltless die in their youth, but God knows

The stalwart man who has been the support of his family withers and dies, leaving his loved ones to poverty and death. It is

The sweltering heat invades every home, and the pride of every family yields to the hot wave and dies. It is best,

The energetic people of a great city lose their strength, and rush into every excess. Why not? It is best.

The hot wave rolls on. People kill their loved ones, and sever their closest relations in a moment of so-called madness. It is

The sober become drunk, and the whole world appears to be involved in one mad Why not? It is best. arnival All this we see during the heated term. It best. Of course it is best. We know that there is compensation somewhere. Why should we care anything about the small discomforts of the present? It is possible that what afflicts us will in some measure alleviate the sufferings of unknown tribes in Africa, China or India. Comforting thought!

There is compensation somewhere. Suffer and swelter as you may here, somebody, somewhere will profit by it!

A Foolish Proposition.

The Buffalo Express is another northern ewspaper which is disposed to make every local quarrel in the south in which a negro is concerned, a general affair, for which the whole south should be held responsible.

Our contemporary refers to the killing of three negroes at a place with the curious name of Amite, Louisiana, as an additional cause for a federal election law in the south. It says that no doubt these negroes were 'a bad lot," and deserved the fate they met, but that if the conditions had been reversed the whole south would have been in arms

This, of course, is false. In view of the fact that the affair referred to was purely a local affair, arising from local causes, in which the state laws had been violated, as it seems, by whites and blacks, what bearing, if we may ask the Express, could a federal election law have

People who are familiar with this Louisiana squabble, which was confined to a few people only, will naturally ask: "To what extent do they propose to allow a federal election law to operate?" Our contemporary, the Buffalo Express, intimates that it will make state and municipal laws of no effect, by simply advocating its passage on the ground of this particular local trouble in Louisiana, which had nothing whatever to do with an election.

Thus it will be seen that the evils of this infamous bill multiply on the mind, and there is no telling to what extent it will be carried if it should pass the senate and become a law.

Pattison is a winning name in Pennsylania. The be rer of it was elected governor eight years, and if a majority of the people of that state are honest he will be elected this year, Globe-Democrat suggests that there will be no revolt among the republicans in Pennsylvania this year. Probably not; but it will be because the republicans would as lief vote for a rascal as an honest man.

WE are now face to face with the seventh month of the year. After today, the boys will begin to think about Christmas.

THE Boston Herald says that the oration of Harvard's class day orator is up to the average. We are glad to hear it, but we don't believe it. Young white men who get drunk and desecrate their own college are not up to any average, much less a sober negro's.

A friend has suggested to me that my vote in 1885 on the bill relating to the powers of the rail-road commission might be urged against me. In reply to this all I have to say is that I stood on exactly the same platform occupied by Colonel W. J. Northen, a man always brave enough to doright, and by Colonel L. F. Livingston, the president of the State alliance. Colonel Livingston introduced in the state agricultural convention which met in Marietta, a resolution urging the legislature to pass the bill then pending before the senate. This resolution was adopted. Colonel Northen, then a state senator, voted for the bill, and so did I when it reached the house. My record and Colonel Northen's are therefore just the same on the question, and both of us in advance were endorsed by Colonel Livingston and the state agricultural convention. The railroad question, so far as the commission is concerned, is not an issue in stateor county politics, but it is not improper for me to refer to the matter as I have done.

Mr. Cobb was seen yesterday by a Banner reporter, and asked about the race. He said that while it was generally desired to have a quiet contest; such a thing was unheard of, and he expected it to grow warm before the race was over. He was ready for whatever cones. Colonel Morton expressed a confidence in his election, but said the executive committee had called the convention at a time when a large number of our merchants were in New York buying goods, which would take from him a number of votes. He said he wanted a quiet campaign, and would do his best to have one. Mr. Mell is equally confident of his own election, and says he will poll a do his best to have one. Mr. Mell is equally confident of his own election, and says he will poll a larger vote in the county than any of his antagonists. He has no idea of withdrawing from the race. Mr. Lester was in the city this week, and says he is still the alliance candidate, and has a support that he believes will elect him. There is a report on the streets this week that Mr. Will Yerby would probably enter the race, but it lacks confirmation. The nomination takes place of Saturday, August 2d, and we very much fear a heated and personal campaign.

THEY MEET

MONROE, Ga., July 3 .- [Special.]-The hottest fight of the congressional campaign was that at the court house in Monroe today.

Caustic.

A ROUSING RED HOT MEETING

In Which Some Sharp Words Are

Spoken.

IN MONROE

There was an old-fashioned gathering of the clans from every quarter of Walton county. Men left their plows in the furrows and their tools idle in the workshops, the professional men left their offices, and even the women and he children talked politics.

It was said to be the largest gathering of the Port ever held in the county.

About 600 people were inside the court house when Chairman Lon Stone called the meeting to order. Judge Stewart was introduced first by Mr. J. O. A. Radford. In the course of his introductory remarks, Mr. Radford criticized the subtreasury bill. "While John D. Stewart was at the helm of the state." said he, "there were others in this district boring holes with their subtreasury gimlets in the bottom of the ship." Judge Stewart made the strongest speech yet made by him in the canvass, devoting most of his time to the subtreasury bill.

"You denounce the national banking system as class legislation. You say class legislation is wrong and undemocratic. Yet the subtreasury bill is based on the perpetuity of that banking system. The theory is to right a wrong by doing wrong. My friend Livingston's answer has been that as long as the banks are chartered for sixteen years longer, just extend the system to include the

"He don't know what he is doing. He founds his answer upon the assumption that the charters cannot be revoked, but they can be revoked, and all need to revoke them is a democratic majority in congress. If you want relief from this banking system, don't go into this wild scheme of putting on more banking system, but stand shoulder to shoulder as democrats and work for a majority in the next congress. That is all we need.

"Banks now are required to keep twenty or twenty-five per cent of their capital stock in deposit. Now, these bankers can replace this twenty or twenty-five per cent of the money with these treasury notes, which they get at one per cent, and bank upon their reserve, loaning it out at seven and eight per cent to people who have no cotton to get money at the warehouses, When you ask me to vote for that bill you ask me to help perpetuate the present banking system. My friends, a shrewd man drew that bill."

"You're right," said the colonel. "You didn't draw it up." The judge spoke at some length of the

"They tell me I'm not an allianceman Maybe I would be if I could." "I'll bet you would," agreed the colonel with emphasis. "Yes," the judge came back, "and make just as good a one as you when I did get in.'

The judge proposed that there were only two points of difference between himself and Colonel Livingston.
"First, that he's a farmer; second, that he is running on a specific bill."

He declared that he was in full sympathy with the object of the bill, but could not agree that the means proposed were best.

facune and your other leaders say they want this or something better. I am in favor of something better. I am in favor of doing away with this national banking system. I am in favor of revoking the charters. I am in favor of free silver. I am in favor of tariff reform."

Judge Stewart made a calculation showing that the cheap money under the subtreasury plan would cost over eleven per cent. He pointed out that any man who owned cottonnot necessarily the producer—could deposit it in the warehouse and get money upon it and run up the prices. In reply to the argument that farmers could, by putting their cotton in warehouses, reap the benefit of an advance in prices, he showed by statistics that the November sales of cotton, adding interest, were best as an average. He believed the idea of locking up a bulk of the produce of the country was dangerous. He illustrated by the trial of a similar plan in France, which resulted in bloodshed and the repudiation of a national debt. The inevita-ble result would be to raise the price of the commodity locked up. A little more than fifty-six per cent of all we eat in Georgia comes from outside the state, and nearly half the population of the state are nonproducers.

He dwelt upon the damage of marked fluctuation in prices, higher or lower, as more or less was put in the warehouses. "We have pending now a bill to make real estate security. That's safer than crops."

The judge alluded again to the compromis ing attitudes of the alliance leaders—Polk, Macune, Wardell and others—at Washington.

Wardell was a republican, nobody knew what Macune was, and Polk was a democrat. "Yet Polk told me only a few days ago, talking about the subtreasury bill, 'Stewart, we'll have it or we'll grind the democratic party into the face of the earth!' "Only a few days ago the alliance at Huron, South Dakota, passed resolutions for women's suffrage, increased pensions, and in favor of declaring themselves an independent political

The point was that there was no unity of purpose on the part of the alliance, and there was danger that ambitious leaders would place the organization in a false light.

Not only that, but there could be no common purpose between alliancemen of the south and west.

"We want cheap grain and higher cotton. They want high grain and cheaper cotton.

And your leaders all want office."

He knew that the great body of alliancemer south were democrats. He knew that Colonel Livingston was a true democrat.

"But tell me," he said, turning to the colonel, "suppose the democratic caucus in congress decided not to support your subtreasury bill, would; you abide by the caucus if you were in congress?"

"I'll answer that," said the colonel. "I wish you would."

Colonel Livingston Replies.

Colonel Livingston was "Malsby," "The federal government during the war," said Mr. Malsby, "kept changing their generals as they were defeated until finally they found the right were defeated until finally they found the right. onel Livingston was introduced by Rev. M.

were defeated until finally they found the right man. They never risked a man meeting two defeats. The time has come for a change with us. If Colonel Livingston had been in congress four years and done nothing. I would say 'Depose him?' What we want is immediate relief. We have no time for slow methods.' Colonel Livingston had a bombshell ready. As the applause died away he lighted his fuse, in have been asked by my friends,' he began, the deep large made against me in this county—lies that are being peddled out here today on the streets of Monroe."

In the sileance of a second or two the ticking of a clock at the speakers' stand could be heard distinctly in the furthest corner of the room.

"It is charged that I took up notes for subscription to the stock of the Covington and Macon, and that nobody knows where those notes are now—that I have never accounted for them all. That's a lie."

now—that I have never accounted for them all. That's a lie!"
There was a burst of applause that shook the building, and then a gentleman standing some distance from the platform was seen struggling through the crowd, and excitedly waving his hands and shouting:
"I'm the man," were the first words that could be heard. "I said it! I said it, and I can prove it!"

"I'm the man," were the lifts words that the beheard. "I said it! I said it, and I can prove it!"

It looked for awhile as if a row was imminent. The man in the audience was Colonel S. V. Bry ant, a prominent lawyer. He was restrained by those around him, but kept calling to be heard.

"I accepted the presidency of the Covington and Macon," continued Colonel Livingston, "in order to help give the people of this section a railroad they needed. I got up those notes and turned them over to the treasurer of the road. Some time ago, when I first heard of this rumor I wrote to Colonel Machen to give me a letter acknowledging this, and the letter was printed in my home paper. You saw it, governor."
The remark was addressed to ex-Governor Henry D. McDaniel, in the audience.

"The second rumor—there are four of them I want to notice—was that I kept Sunday-school money and spent it. That's an infamous lie!"

There was another burst of applause, and Colonel Bryant again said something to the crowd, but it was drowned out.

"The third is that I sold out in Atlanta somehow and somewhere for $30. That's a lie!

The fourth is that I organized an old grange here in Walton county and kept $60 of their money. That is an infamous lie!"

As the applause subsided the colonel followed up his advantage.

"I didn't expect that treatment in Walton county when I did so much for that man sitting there," pointing to ex-Governor McDaniel. "Who was the man that stood by him first, last and all the time?"

The colonel retold the story of his part in the

the time?"
The colonel retold the story of his part in the convention that nominated McDaniel. Then he proceeded to do up the man that introduced Judge Stewart, and just here the colonel made a mistake.

mistake.

"That school teacher that introduced my friend—what does he know about the subtreasury plan? That just shows how much against a farmer candidate."

"I'm not a school teacher," corrected Mr. Radford. "I'm a farmer."

"He's an allianceman," put in another gentleman sitting near by

"He's an allianceman," put in another genterman sitting near by.

The colonel didn't pursue the subject. He referred to Judge Stewart's promise to get out of the way at the end of two terms.

"Don't some of you remember two or three days before the primary in this county the wagons and the drivers and something in the bottom of the vagons?"

He replied to the charges about "fixing up'

Wagons?"
He replied to the charges about "fixing up" things when he finally decided not to run for governor.

"Judge Stewart says the remedy for us is to repeal class legislation. That's a step in the right direction, but it don't go far enough. The money is in the hands of a few men now, and just to repeal this class legislation would leave it there. What we want is to get this money back into the hands of the people.

"Judge Stewart asks me what I've done for the farmers. I ask him—what haven't I done?"

The colonel then defined the issue between him and Judge Stewart.

"What does my letter of announcement say? That the farmers of this district want an immediate representative upon the floor of congress. We grant that he has been an honest man and done all he could, but he can't represent farmers like a farmer can. On a constitutional question he can represent you better than I could, but he can't represent the wishes and needs of farmers. That's the difference between Judge Stewart and me. That's it, plain and straight."

Colonel Livingston quoted another instance of the prejudice against the farmers.

"Last pight at Social Circle, when my friends asked if of the school house at Social Circle, they wouldn't let them have it without paying for it. As soon as Judge Stewart's friends asked for it they let them haveit free."

The colonel defended the subtreasury bill at some length.

"The objection is made," said he, "that there will be an advance in prices because so much of the prejudice against the subtreasury plan, Colonel Livingston used these and similar examples:

"In always to the charge of class legislation urged against the subtreasury plan, Colonel Livingston used these and similar examples:

"In Atlanta they dump the mail out at your front porch five times a day. How many times do they do that here a day? In the cites they have fine six story buildings for pubhe mail facilities. Here a farmer rides five or ten miles through the heat or rain, or walks, after his mail. Any class legistation in that?

legistation in that?
"Judge Stewart wants it sorter left to him to decide what's right for the farmers. Men, swear your congressmen. Pm not going to trust him to do what's right for the farmers, but I'll leave it to your farmers, and you can swear me to what you please."

please."
This was democracy, the colonel argued, because Jefferson said that "all legitimate power comes

Jefferson said that "all legislature from the people."
He said that he had twice saved from being abolished the department of agriculture of the state, and that in return for this service the farmers presented him with a watch costing $110, which he still wears.
He repeated that he could do more in congress now than Judge Stewart, because of the "peculiar general that he could be supported by the state of the peculiar general that the could be supported by the state of the supported by the state of the supported by the state of the supported by the supported by now than Judge Stewart, because of the "peculiar circumstances and of his peculiar fitness."

"This is the first time the farmers have ever had this chance," he concluded. "It is the opportunity of a life time. If you neglect it you will be hewers of wood and drawers of water just as long as you live."

Judge Stewart's Conclusion. "I am not to represent in congress," said Judge Stewart in conclusion, "any one class of people. I shall represent all alike. My friend's bid for the farmer vote is bog moonshine—a fox squirrel could see through it. He can't do all he says in congress. He can't, in any mysterious way, change republicans there into democrats, or wipe out a republican majority. Our hope of redemption is Cleveland in '92 and a democratic house after the coming election."

Enjoying His Holiday. - Patrolman Pat Murphy, of Macon, after visiting the various summe resorts, is spending some days with his brother, Mr. Mike Murphy, of this city. Never a better policeman wielded a billy than Pat Murphy, and he has been one of the tried and true of the Macon police force for many years.

Colonel R. B. Russell .- The many Atlanta friends of Colonel R. B. Russell, of Athens, greeted him with pleasure at the Kimball yesterday. Colonel Russell is the solicitor general of the Athens cir-cuit, and is also editor of the Evening Ledger, one of the brightest evening dailies in the state. Amusements Today.-At Grant Park this morn ing there will be amusing tub races, boat races and other sports; in the evening a splendid display of fire works. At Faith's park on the dummy line to the Soldiers' home there are many quiet shady nooks where the heat of the day may be avoided New Engine and Cars.-The Metropolitan Street Railroad company have received a new dummy and three handsome new coaches, which will be in service today on the Grant park lines.

Four Generations.-Today there will be a notahle gathering at the home of Judge R. L. Rodgers in West End. It will consist of four generations, Judge Rodgers's father, himself, his daughter and granddaughter, who will enjoy a reunion there today.

The Scotch-Irishmen.—The Scotch-Irishmen, who organized what is known as the Atlanta Scotch-Irish society, are now preparing to have a day's outing. They have not as yet decided where or when to have it, but will in the near future spend a day most merrily in some of the rural regions about Atlanta. Mr. W. Hugh Hunter, secretary of the society, has received instructions to forward the names of the members to the national association and will do so in a few days. Major Campbell Wallace is vice president of the national association from Georgia.

Fulton Gun Club Shoot.—The recently organized gun club will hold a free to all shoot this afternoon, beginning promptly at 2 o'clock. Every lover of the sport is cordially invited to participate. Take Inman park electric cars to grounds.

Monday the Last Day.—Next Monday is the last day for receiving reports of administrators, executors and guardians in the ordinary's office. In case of failure to report, the commissions will be forfeited, and those holding the above positions will do well to take due notice of the fact.

Off for Chattanooga.—Last evening Judge S. H. Landrum and his faithful coadjutor, A. N. Cox, left for Chattanooga to spend a day with the veterans, of which both are enthusiastic members Inviting Candidates.—Mr. F. C. Davis, of Covingten, brought to the city yesterday an invitation to Hon. R. T. Nesbitt to visit Covington on the 14th and address the people in the Covington court house. The invitation is signed by Mr. Davis and Messrs. D. A. Thomson, Sr. W. C. Thomson, L. F. Stevenson, Willie Potts, John Stone, Willie Bell, George Bell and R. C. Bowden. It is understood that a similar invitation will be extended, if it has not already been done, to Hon. John T. Henderson.

John T. Henderson.

The Rich Phosphates of Florida.—Mr. John M. McCandless, consulting chemist at the state capitol, is now busily engaged analyzing many specimens of the Florida phosphates. He says they are the richest specimens he ever saw. On an average many of them are eighty per cent pure, and none of them fall below sixty per cent. This is far above the Charleston phosphate beds, which never average higher than sixty-five per cent. Mr, McCandless thinks that in the discovery of the Florida phosphate beds the agricultural interests of the south will find the greatest boomever yet experienced, if the quantity of the phosphates is in keeping with the quality.

Professor Fitzpatrick.—Professor Z. I. Fitzpatrick, of Albany, accompanied by his wife, arrived in the city yesterday on his way to the national teachers convention at St. Paul. Professor Fitzpatrick is one of the most noted teachers in Georgia, and firmly plants his reputation wherever he goes. Albany has unanimously elected him for another term.

Which Was Witnessed During the Session

Which Was Witnessed During the Sessions of the Missionary Society.

A delegation of ladies from the Woman's Foreign Mission society, of the North Georgia conference of the Methodist church, which convened in this city this week, visited by invitation of the Woman's Christian association their home at 49 West Peters street. They in turn invited the matron and little children to a bountiful lunch, served at Trinity church by the good ladies of this and the First Methodist church.

After singing "Let the Little Ones Come Unto Me," they were conducted by the kind ladies to the well loaded tables, and after being arranged around them, a score of little hands were devoutly folded, as is their custom, till a blessing is invoked. There were many moistened eyes at this touchingly beautiful sight, and one kind lady asked a blessing on the rare treat given these helpless little girls and boys of the Christian home, tian home.

It was a scene over which angels would delight to hover. One lady from another city, whose very name will ever send a thrill of sacred rememberance through every Georgian's heart, left in the hands of the kind matron a sum to provide some "unaccustomed luxury" if r the children.

Each loving Christian woman's heart responded to the fervent prayer, "God bless the Woman's Christian association of Atlanta," and each little bongue will liep in childish invocation a blessing on the good women who so kindly entertained them at Trinity church.

The East Tennessee guarantees five per cent interest upon $4,000,000 bonds. The net earnings of the road at the present time amount to about this sum. This lease adds no additional burden to the East Tennessee. Virginia and Georgia railroad company, but gives it an outlet to every important center on the Ohio river. The stock of the Louisville Southern road is held wholly by business men of Louisville, who have pledged themselves to join the East Tennessee company, to make its new line a valuable connection with the south and divide business with the Louisville and Nashville road.

A NEGRO CONVENTION

Is What Hon. C. H. J. Taylor Wants to

Hon. C. H. J. Taylor has just returned from Birmingham where he has been consulting with leading Alabama negroes about his contemplated convention of southern negroes.

Taylor is quite enthusiastic over his work. His scheme appears to be a good one. He wants every state in the union having negro residents to be represented in the convention with a deleevery state in the union having negro residents to be represented in the convention with a delegate from every congressional district and two from the state at large, unless the state be a southern one. In that event, he wants the delegation at large to be ten strong.

This, he says, must be done in order to give the south, where most of the negroes live, a control.

Taylor's idea is to have, for delegates, negroes who are respected at their homes by both races. He wants every member to be a property owner if possible and all to be able to read and write.

The convention is to discuss the condition of the race and benefit it if possible.

The Miners at Pratt Mines Sign the Old

Scale and Return to Work.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 3.—For several weeks there has been a condition of uncertainty among the industries of this region, owing to a movement among the miners for an increase of pay, a change of scale and recognition of the order of United Miners. Several thousand miners stopped work on July 1st, pending a settlement, and the order held a convention at Pratt Mines. The operators decided, some ten days ago, that they would stand pat on the present scale, and would continue to treat with the men only as employes and not as an order. A long struggle seemed imminent, with all the mines and furnaces closed, but today the miners gracefully declined to press their demands. This afternoon the employes of the Fratt Mines division of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railway company signed the old scale for the ensuing year. The other mines will follow this lead and the threatened trouble is over. All the men will go back to work on Monday. Scale and Return to Work.

Was well taken by a Judge in a Georgia city recently. A highly respectable and usually prompt citizen, who had been summoned to serve upon the jury, depended upon a cheap watch, and arrived twenty minutes late. The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock

Southwestern..... Central.... Central debenture....

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, July 3.—In the stock market today, the duilness which has been a great feature of dealings for the whole week, made further progress, and the day's transactions were even smaller than those of yesterday, while there was even less feature to trading. In the railroad list dullness and stagnation reigned supreme, and not a single fluctuation of interest took place. The only movement commanding attention was a sudden drop in cotton oil certificates, which was caused by the publication yesterday of the story about the hitch in the proceedings changing the trust into a corporation. Opening at 23%, it declined to 27%, but rallied to 28%. The new stock sold at 23, and was afterward offered at 24, but the best bid on the floor at the time was 20. No sale was effected at less than 21%, however, and the flurry was soon over. Some trading in New England marked the afternoon's dealings, and a slight fractional advance carried it above 50, but no other movement worthy of comment took place during the entire session. The attitude in the streets is a waiting one on both sides, and, while the buils are inclined to feel confident that July disbursements will oil the wheels of speculation, and a more active and higher imarket is predicted after the holidays, the bears are watching the railroad situation with much interest, and will undoubtedly seek to make capital out of any failure to come to maying failed to settle the dressed beef question, and referred it again back to the trunk line, a case is expected to result from that action which will afford them an opportunity to point to the demoralization of railroad rates, and by pressure and short sales get the market down again. Silver legislation now plays no part in the course of prices, and the rise which was caused by the first prospect of it has about been lost. Buying of New England extended to Lackawanna, Atchison and some others, in the last hour, and imparted some life to the market, which had been practicall

Hibbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, July 3—(Special)—Despite the continued large takings of the English spinners our market has, if anything, displayed more of a holiday character than yesterday, and transactions have been limited in their scope. The feature of the trading has been the strength of the July position. The efforts of the shorts to cover carried the trading has been the strength of the July po-sition. The efforts of the shorts to cover carried the price up 9 points on the opening. The largest portion of this advance, however, was jostupon the realizing by a prominent house, who are supposed to hold the July contracts, that holders of spots to hold the July contracts, that holders of spots have sold against their cotton, and who do not wish to deliver their cotton until the latter part of the month. August delivery was bought freely for European account. The rumor being current abroad that a coriner will be attempted in this position. About noon the market became easier upon the receipt of telegrams reporting rain in Texas and a slightly lower Liverpool. The close was quiet with the majority of traders evening their transactions previous to the holidays.

Our exchange will be closed until Monday, July 7.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions. CHICAGO, July 3—Wheat—A moderate business was transacted in this market, which ruled steady within a small range most of the day. It opened rather weaker, and early sales were 14.81% lower than yesterday's closing, then advanced sharply 7.21c, eased off and then held steady for some time within ½ range and closed firm and ½ higher than yesterday's closing. The market is being governed mainly by weather conditions here and in Europe.

Corn—There was a very good speculative trade vitnessed in this market. The first trading was at slight advance over the closing prices of yester day, was firm, very little being offered, and under a good local demand advanced %@%c, July show-ing the most strength, ruled steady and closed ¼

See better than yesterday.

Oats moderately active butunsettled. There was free liquidation of July by some large holders. This produced a weak feeling and prices, afteren advance of 1/20/4c at the opening, receded 1/4c and the market closed easy.

Mess pork—Very little business was transacted and changes in prices were slight.

Lard—Trade was moderate. Early a few transactions were made at slightly advanced prices, and especially for the deferred deliveries. Later the market ruled easier, and prices receded again and the market closed tame.

Short ribs—Trading was only moderate. Prices were a little more favorable to sellers.

THE TEACHERS' MONEY

THEY HAVE TO WAIT TILL WINTER TO GET IT.

Judge Hook and the County Com Working for the Teachers' Relief-Some Interesting Plans.

They want their money. And by the rule of simple justice they ought

But unfortunately for the school teachers of Georgia, they must wait until pext winter before they can get it.

Here is a matter that is just at present commanding the attention of every one who wields the rod over the state's flourishing schools, bearing as it does with great inconvenience apon the part the state plays in the sustenance

The teachers are not paid promptly for their work during the three months of public tnition?

It's the state's fault. The teachers, instead of receiving their money from the state for teaching last term at the close of the term, will actually have to wait until next December, and, most probably, later before they are paid out of the state's treasury for their labors.

The reason is that there is no money in the treasury belonging to the school fund and will not be until the taxes are paid in De-

This has been the case for years, and the teachers who teach in the state public schools have always been placed under these disadvantages. AN EFFORT TO RELIEVE THEM.

It is, in all reason, a very great inconvenience for the teachers to wait so long for their public tuition.

Besides, being put to private disadvatages they are much impeded in the matter of mak-ing out their accounts against their patrons, for they never know how much public tuition to deduct from their accounts before presenting them to their patrons. For this and many other reasons an effort has been started by the teachers, with Commissioner Hook, to assist them, to secure such legislation as may adjust matters more to their favor. nissioner Hook has received many inquiries from teachers and county school commissioners about the matter, and has been seeking, through many ways, to bring about

The matter was carried before the last meeting of the teachers at their state convention by Mr. J. W. Roberts, county school commissioner of Burke county.

At that meeting a resolution was passed providing for the appointment of a committee of teachers to go before the next legislature and ask for such legislation as will allow them to borrow enough money from other funds in the state's treasury to pay at least half the public tuition in July and pay the remaining half when the taxes are paid in December, also paying back at that time the amount borrowed from the other fund in July out of the school fund.

THE PLAN WON'T WORK.
"It is a plan that will not prove practicable," says Mr. Hugh N. Starnes, assistant commissioner of education.

"It is a good idea, but any one familiar with the situation, knows that it won't work, for the simple reason that there is absolutely no money in the state's treasury at the time mentioned. If the money could have been borrowed from any other fund in the treasury in July, Commissioner Hook would have done it long ago, and paid off half of the school tuition in the summer, as desired by the teachers. He has been working for just such a scheme himself, but it is not possible to get the money for the schools, or even half of it, until the state taxes are

A BETTER SCHEME.

"I think a better scheme, and surely the only feasible one, is for the state to levy a special tax of one mill on the total digest of the state's property, which will give the matter a start. This will place about $400,000 in the treasury which could be kept until July, and would be enough to pay off fifty per cent. of the public tuition, as desired, at that time. Then when the regular taxes are paid in the next December, half | 31st of the school fund could be used to finish paying up the teachers, and the other half put aside for the next July to pay the first half of the tuition again.

"There are many advantages of a law like this. It would be of untold benefit and convenience to the hundreds of teachers in the state, but further still it would put in circulation $400,000 in the various arteries of trade in the state just at that dull portion of the summer as would be of even greater advantages to the storekeeper and farmer alike.

""Some such law ought to be passed. Judge Hook is powerless to answer the demands of the teachers until some such steps are taken." Every tissue of the body, every nerve, bone and muscle is made stronger and more healthy by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

GREAT DANGER.

They Should Be Avoided-A Few Points in Regard to Them.

When the Creator in His wrath (or for His glory?) saw fit to expel His first creation, His own image, from the garden of Eden, He placed on them the curse of disease and death. In after generations He visited His chosen people with many "plagues for their disobedience," but of all the many ills He inflicted upon his fallen creation many "plagues for their disobedience," but of all the many ills He inflicted upon his fallen creation hone are more painful, more loathsome, or more errible in its effects than fistula in ano; fearful in its ravages and dangerous to life, robbing one of all the pleasures of living. But, as in all other afflictions, He has given a remedy; science in its primitive state was unable to utilize the remedy without eausing most intense suffering, and oftentimes leaving the victim in a condition much worse than at first. It was left for the progressive physicians of the present age to offer you a pleasmat cure for this most unpleasant disease. You need no longer fear the "knife," with all its pain and dangers, for it is unnecessary. I have laid aside all harsh means and treat you by a rational treatment that when properly applied for a sufficient time will cure you. Have you fistula? If so, it is unnecessary to ask you if you wish to be cured of it. But do you wish to avoid the intense pain of a Bevere operation, or are you wedded to the old belief that you cannot be cured without the crude and painful means formerly employed? If you are not, I offer you the very latest that science can give you. I have cured many by this rational method, and I offer the same to you confidently, promising you Ratisfactory results. Many laddes are affected with fistula. To all I say, do not let your timidity prevent you from availing yourself of this opportunity to obtain a cure. My arrangement for privacy are all you could wish. Promising to verify all my claims. Respectfully, Dr. R. G. Jackson.

A Short Talk With Dr. J. W. Rankin About Them.

"Is the meeting of the stockholders for July 10th called for any special purpose?" asked a Constitution wan of Dr. Rankin yesterday.

"It is called to consider the policy of changing the annual meeting from August to July," was the reply. "We go out of blast the last Saturday in June, which is virtually the end of our business year, and it is better to close up the books and begin a new year. We begin again this year on August 17th in the finit house, and about Experiments in the green factory."

"How has your business been the past year?" was asked.

"Fairly good. Many factories were compelled."

was asked.

"Fairly good. Many factories were compelled to shut down on account of scarcity, and high price of soda ash, but we managed to run through. We shall increase our capacity from twenty to twenty-five per cent for the next five, and expect to be able to supply the demand around Atlanta. We have a good force of blowers, who will stay with us next year, and we expect to give them good solid work for the whole season."

Under the Auspices of the Young Men's Library—He is Booked for America in Several Cities.

Will Stanley come to Atlanta?
It is likely that he will, he has been invited here by the Young Men's Library association, and the invitation is accompanied by letters from Governor Gordon, Mayor Glenn, Captain E. P. Howell and Hon. Clark Howell, urging the great explorer to come to Atlanta, and assuring him of a warm welcome and a big audience.

Mr. Stanley is now in England where his marriage will occur this month. He will sail for America at an early date and his agent, Major J. B. Pond of the lecture bureau, has already made engagements for him at a number of cities.

The lecture committee of the Young Men's library have considered the natter carefully and they think Mr. Stanley will come. THEY STRUCK OIL.

THE STRANGE FIND OF A GANG OF LABOREES YESTEBDAY.

While Making the Exeavations for the Site of the Building on Whitehall Street They Strike an Oil Well.

An oil well in Atlanta. And this is no joke.

About noon yesterday the laborers employed on the new building being erected by Mr. E. P. Chamberlin, on Whitehall street, struck

The first man that stuck his pick into the well drew back with an expression of disgust.
"I smells sump'n that stinks like kerosene," he remarked.

And as he spoke he peered down into the hole which his pick had penetrated, and the smell of gas almost overpowered him. An investigation was made, and it was found that the workmen, in digging the foundations for the building, had opened an old oil well, which had been covered up during the last twenty years, and had passed from the memory of the citizens who do business near the spot.

The oil well was found to be a tank, six by eight feet and fourteen feet deep, sunk twenty years ago by John T. Hagan, who was at that time the principal dealer in kerosene oil in the city. The well, or tank, was lined with sheet lead and the sheeting was found in an excellent state of preservation yesterday when the well was opened.

While in business Mr. Hagan kept his well filled with oil, and had a pipe run to his place of business on Whitehall street, with which to supply his customers.

When he left Whitehall street Hagan forgot to fill up his oil well, and it has remained there forgotten through all these many years . The soil for a hundred feet around was found to be so thoroughly saturated with the oil and gas that the stench was intolerable. It was a "fake," but the alleged discovery of an oil well on Whitehall street attracted a large crowd, and the excitement grew so great that it was necessary to make a full explana tion of the particulars of the discovery.

The oil well is an ancient one, and it is only due to the penetrativeness of the kerosene, that the surrounding earth was saturated with it, and caused the excitement.

Cart load after cart load of dirt is being carried out of the alley, all of it so thoroughly permeated with the oil that it is slick and greasy looking, and has the smell of sewer gas and a combination of the odors of a skunk and a mink in its make up.

The leaden lining is intact, and will probably be worth a small sum to those who are having the work done.

But the dream of oil wealth has fallen, and the expectations of those who first scented the phenomenon have vanished like the dew of the morning.
